

CAST

In Order Of Appearance

NarratorLiz Poppo*Ralph Valentine*Stuart Grocott

The director of the company, Ralph lives for his amateur dramatics. He's a wealthy, unmarried man who relishes the role of "the director"... He's also got a way with the ladies

Prudence Du MaurierSue Leahy

("Old Meg" in the play)

A seasoned actor for the Powder-Keg players, Prudence has played just about every lead role going. She's a flamboyant character with a tough outlook (she's had to bring her son Russell up single-handedly). She and Ralph "go back a long way"

Russell Du MaurierMartin Meister

("Roderick" in the play)

Prudence's son Russell is a good natured young man. He's proving quite a hit in the society yet would rather be with the lads down at the sports hall than treading the boards.

Gloria SunshineHelen Ryder

("Alice" in the play)

Gloria is a bubbly, vivacious young lady but can also become quite moody if she doesn't get her way. She loves her acting and has dramatic ambition....but perhaps she over-estimates her talent a little too much!?

Marjorie TubbsElaine Sellors

Marjorie is not connected to the Powder-Keg players. She is tough, local business-woman who runs her own building firm—Tubbs' Enterprises. She's plain-speaking and highly motivated.... And is not used to being told "no".

Ronald GibbsRon Frost

(Stage Manager of the company)

This is the local postman Ronald's first production. He's willing to help yet his enthusiasm is not matched by the abilities

Inspector AngoodRay Cook

A seasoned sleuth, relaxed in manner yet relentless in his pursuit of the truth
